The ceramic sink Chambord Henri 595 is primarily intended for rustic country kitchens or Provence-style kitchens. The aesthetically rounded lines of the sink and the elegant recess on the front of the sink will capture your attention. This unique ceramic sink will look beautiful, for example, when combined with wood. It can also be installed flush into the countertop.

The depth of the sink is 18.5 cm, which is sufficiently comfortable for washing bulky pots and baking trays. The sink is designed for modular installation, meaning it is directly mounted on a cabinet. The Henri 595 sink is also suitable for a kitchen island. Modular sinks are preferably recommended for installation with non-absorbent countertops. In the case of a solid surface countertop, the sink is installed underneath it, while for a wooden countertop, we recommend the sink slightly overlapping the surface to prevent water contact.

Thanks to the fact that ceramics is a non-porous material, its clear advantage is primarily easy maintenance and long-lasting color stability. It is temperature-insensitive and perfectly hygienic. Ceramics is an ideal material for the kitchen.
